Dedication

Laughter, good will, games, smiles, songs, and splashes of bright color all play a part in the county fair, an event which in many respects represents the life, work, and entertainment of the American people. The many different people working together to make such an event possible are an excellent example of the brotherhood and unity which help make America what it is.

Many of us, living as we do in the city, have never had the opportunity to participate in such an event, but this term the students and faculty worked together in an effort to bring the atmosphere of the county fair to New Utrecht. We worked hard, but the rewards far over-shadowed our efforts because the lessons gained from working together, the pride in our work, and the enjoyment we derived from the results of our efforts were and will be invaluable to us. We, the graduating seniors, will particularly remember this event because it was the last major school activity we had the opportunity to enjoy, and in participating in the county fair we experienced the beginning of what may become a New Utrecht tradition.

Because of the spirit associated with it and the fond memories we shall doubtlessly have of it as a part of our high school years, the COMET staff has chosen the county fair as its theme.

Principal's Message

Dear Graduates:

We live in a world that is confused and confusing. The actions of Mr. Khrushchev, the policies of business corporations, the discoveries of scientists, the social prejudices of other people—all these and many other forces over which we as individuals have little or no control, strongly affect our lives. These forces are difficult to contend with, and almost too complex to understand. It is easy to see why some people give up in despair, turn away from concern over these things, and devote their lives to the satisfaction of their immediate, personal wants.

But if we do this, if we make no effort to understand and to deal with the problems which confront us, we are admitting that we are not fit to be citizens in a democratic society. And if too many of us shirk our responsibilities as citizens, we shall have only ourselves to blame for the evils and injustices which may result.

One reason for education is to make people aware of the forces which affect their lives and to prepare them to deal with their problems intelligently and effectively. Graduation from high school does not mean that you have achieved this goal. It means only that you have completed one stage. You still have much to learn. As you leave New Utrecht, it is our fervent wish that you will go on seeking knowledge and understanding, and make active use of them in your life as an individual and as a citizen.

ISAAC HERSH

Dear Seniors:

It has been my great pleasure to serve as Senior Adviser to one of the largest graduating classes at New Utrecht High School. The size of this class, however, must take second place to the quality and caliber of the students in it. My experience in dealing with the fine officers you chose to lead your class and with your class representatives on Senior Cabinet offers further proof that this class has been most outstanding in many ways.

There have been many activities planned and carried out successfully because of the fine spirit of cooperation exhibited by so many of you in the graduating class. Senior Day was excellent. The Senior Show was one of the finest presented to date. The Celebrity Dance, with suspense and drama packed into one evening, became New Utrecht's counterpart to the presentation of Academy Awards. All this, added to your now-famous Prom, will provide you with many wonderful memories.

These are but a few of the memorable events that occurred in your Senior term of high school.

If you will face your future responsibilities with the same determination and willingness to cooperate, I am confident that you will encounter full, satisfying experiences in all of your endeavors.

Let me, once again, wish each and every member of the graduating class success and the best of good luck.

JACK GORDON

Senior Adviser's Message

From Our Alumni Association

We welcome you most heartily to the ranks of our Alumni Association.

The New Utrecht High School Alumni Association was incorporated in July 1943 as a membership corporation under the laws of the State of New York. Since the date of incorporation and the first Board of Directors meeting held on December 14, 1943, the Alumni Association has come a long way. From its inception, the Association has dedicated itself to the affairs of the school, alumni, and community.

Our Scholarship Fund, Employment Placement Service, Reunion Dinners, etc. are geared for the benefit of Utrecht alumni. The Association takes justifiable pride in having inaugurated and supported these undertakings making it a working organization, helping our Alma Mater and fellow alumni.

We are more than proud of those of our alumni who have prominently established themselves in practically every field of endeavor, i.e., judiciary, medicine, law, government, teaching, etc., who have participated in laying the groundwork of the association and have continued through the years to lend their support. We also boast the largest number of show business performers of any alumni group, including Abe Burrows, Arnold Stang, Buddy Hackett, Robert Merrill, Richard Tucker, Doretta Morrow, and other notables.

It would take many more pages than allotted here to set forth the accomplishments, workings, and future goals of the Association.

As the Association takes on more responsibilities and its growth increases, the support of every alumnus is needed. Now that you have graduated, you are automatically eligible to participate in the Association and "reap the harvest" it has to offer. Those of you who are active in school affairs have the largest responsibility of all as liaison between your class and the Association to see that your class is active. This can be done by following the steps listed below:

1. Keep up to date on your dues ($1.00 per year or $10.00 for Life Membership). Your dues make the Association possible; without it, no mailings, no activities. Make checks payable to the N.U.H.S. Alumni Association, 1601 80th Street, Brooklyn 14, N. Y.

2. Support the Meyer Weiner Memorial Scholarship Fund of the Alumni Association.

3. Attend Council meetings once a month. We discuss alumni affairs and plan alumni functions. The Council meetings are also social get-togethers after the short business sessions, and refreshments are served.

4. Inform us immediately of change of address.

5. Volunteer for various Alumni activities.

6. Send personal news items for the "Alumni Newsletter."

7. Form a class committee as representatives to the Association.

8. All comments and inquiries should be sent to the Association, at 1601 80th Street, Brooklyn 14, N. Y., or call BE. 2-6388.

We wish you all the best of luck in your hopes and ambitions.

"WE ARE THE SOPHS"

"We got so hungry, when lunch was the eighth."

"All we want is to go to Chookies but we're chicken, chicken, chicken."

What Senior doesn't know Sam, Seymour, and Frieda? But when we were Sophs, Chookies was strictly for the elite (upper-termers).

"Too many numbers, too many geometric figures. Theorems and reasoning, postulates that we must learn."

How can we forget Mr. Sabbeth, triangles, Mrs. Kaufman, given, to prove, Mr. Itzkowitz, congruence, Miss Geltman, angle bisector, Mrs. Teig, Mr. Israel, Miss Batch, theorems, confusion.

"Swimming pool, suits of blue. Has anybody seen Mrs. Scher?"

"Two by two, it's so true, little lockers just won't do."

Waddya mean we have to buy special locks?

"Bio. teachers, always working with the bugs and creatures, microscopic features, paramecium and amoeba."

Through the microscope we now view Mr. Inman, Mr. Sherman, Mr. Davis, Mr. Sharrin, Mr. Lippe, Mr. Shulman, Mr. Weiss, Miss Green, Mr. Kurke.

"If you only knew how we flew through our dear Utrecht's halls."

Remember what fun we had running from the east side of the first floor to the west side of the fifth floor? In four minutes . . . naturally.

"Grossman, Grossman give us your answer true. We're half crazy 'cause we're not smart like you."

—or like Dr. Sorieri, Mrs. Lightcap, Mr. Weiss, or Miss Martinez. Como esta Ud?

"Sophs of Utrecht here we stand, with our voices ringing true."

That was the year "Jenny Kissed Me" and the Sophs took a trip on Noah's Ark, while the gods watched over the Seniors, the trains broke down, the snow came down, Sputnik went up, and everyone was down with the flu.

"HERE WE ARE—ALL THE JUNIORS"

"Oh, Miss Olliffe, do be a gem, let me drop history, dramatics and chem."

Those poor grade advisers! When we saw our program cards with history, English, chemistry, fusion, language, gym, and music again, we just had to see Miss Olliffe, Mrs. Wind, Mr. Charosh, Mr. Goodman, Mrs. Appel—or anyone.

"But we gotta take the West End"—or the 18th Avenue bus.

"The day that the Utes won the game, the score was 20-0 and the Lincoln boys said woooooooooooo . . .!"

It was about time!!!!

"Pyramids falling all over the ground—Go-Getters of Utrecht."

And they call them boy cheerleaders???

"Brooklyn meets France in Catania's French class."

The Eiffel Tower and the Champs Elysees come to mind when we learn French culture from Miss Gesualdi, Mrs. Benjamin and Mrs. Wind.

"The lunchroom, oh, oh. My stomach, oh, oh, oh, oh!"

Who can forget Doc, chocolate cupcakes, chow mein on Monday, pretzels, Heroes, and hot plates?

"When Mr. Waldbaum gives us homework, that's when we all go berserk."

We're sure that Mr. Goldenberg, Mr. Ricken, Mr. Davidoff, Mrs. Jaffe, Mrs. Friedberg, Mrs. Goldenson, Mr. Greenfield, Mr. Meyer, Mr. B. Cohen, Mr. I. Cohen, and Mr. Slosberg stayed up all night planning assignments and tests for us and we stayed up all night studying for them.

"In '58 the Juniors sure were great."

WE WON! Juniors enjoyed their trip to Paris. So did the judges, but the Seniors went "Berserk."

"We'll strive to our utmost, showing sportsmanship too. Dear Utrecht, we're loyal to you."

Our Junior Year brought "Arsenic and Old Lace," a televised Utrecht football game, Sam Levenson, practice College Boards, a Barn Dance, the Merit Scholarship Test, Sing victory parties, a pigeon in the assembly, and the birth of the fencing, tennis and soccer teams.

"LOOK, LOOK, SENIORS ON THE WAY"

"Passes, we forge passes."

To quote a well known Senior: "They marked me cutting just because I was in Chookies!"

"Cheer them on, dear Boosters, cheer them on."

While the twirlers twirl, and our cheerleaders leap, it is inevitable that our Boosters will form an "N.U." and Mr. Charry will lead the band in the school song.

"In Utrecht we are always sneaking bites of lunch in classes."

We really don't understand this because as Seniors we have no classes and four lunch periods!!

"We're having mid-terms in the morning."

Midterms and Regents—the dread of any normal child.

"Seniors are victorious; spirit and spark are glorious."

WE WON AGAIN! Sophs turned blue (we guess from their "Winter Wonderland") and Juniors red when we returned victorious from Atlantis.

"There'll be no more lockers to sneak through, no more hallways to creep through, no more excuses to think of . . ."

"Our hearts are breaking after all these years. Who can stop us from shedding tears? Utrecht High!"

With our English and history Regents safely passed, and with a sigh, we receive our diplomas and a flood of memories. We think of the Regents Scholarship test, our College Board marks, civil service tests, college applications, the flooded fifth floor, the student-faculty basketball game, the Project Talent tests, the Beatnik Dance, the gossip in the "Tassel," the school concerts, crazy hat day, and appointments for COMET pictures. In our senior term we recall electing senior officers and celebrities, and ordering jewelry, hats, and buttons. We remember, too, the senior show with its parody of "Macbeth," Senior Day, lollipops, senior assemblies, the County Fair, the senior breakfast and boat-ride, the prom and graduation.

"Nor when we part and feel the tear,
The lessons done and school gone by,
Shall break the union founded here,
While swings the earth and glows the sky."

What Would

We had the co-ed lunchroom promised by campaigners.

Mr. Waldbaum lost his black book.

Mr. Charry forgot the school song.

Dr. Drachman had been caught reading a classic comic.

More of the student body could be classified as sane.

Mr. Sass' name had been spelled correctly in the beginning.

Mr. Davidoff ran for office on the Republican ticket.

All the senior pictures were flattering.

Miss Gelber really used her guillotine on the students who failed to read "A Tale of Two Cities."

Mr. Safran got contact lenses for his chemical eye.

Miss Gesualdi stopped going to the opera.

The swimming pool were really on the roof.

Gary Lambert hadn't been chorus leader.

Mr. Charosh stopped making puns.

Mrs. Scher went swimming.

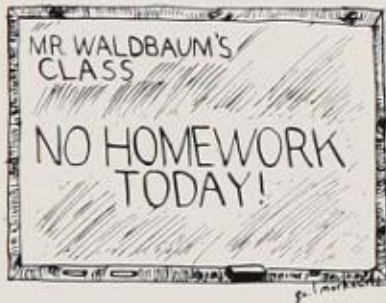

The trophies in the lobby were dusted.

Every girl who tried out made Boosters.

Mr. Cherniss won the Nobel Prize for Literature.

Mr. Greenfield admitted that women are the superior sex.

Mr. Holder got a flat tire on his bicycle.

Mr. B. Cohen defected to Russia.

Happen If —

Mrs. Lightcap had a class of "burros."

We had larger lockers.

Mr. Epstein's lab experiments worked.

Mr. Hersh stopped smiling.

Swimming Leaders wore bikinis.

Mr. Safran could spell.

Mrs. Friedberg got a letter of acceptance from college.

Mrs. McClenahan won a Merit Scholarship.

There weren't any Regents answer booklets.

Mrs. Grau wore her dungarees and her husband's old shirt to class.

Mr. Goldenberg really owned Peanut Chews.

Mrs. Marinello had laryngitis.

Mr. Greenfield had a co-ed seating arrangement in his classes.

Mr. Davidoff wore brown socks and a yellow suit.

Mr. Feingold stopped sending for parents.

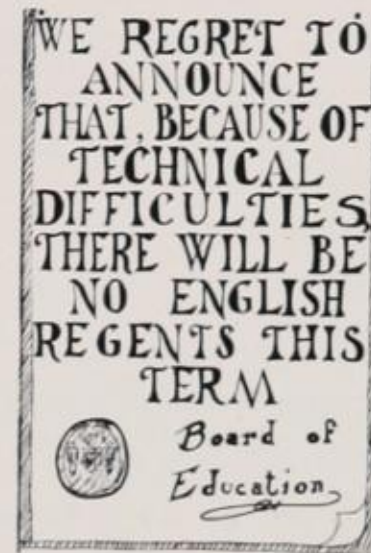

The secret identity of "Lucky Vidac" were revealed.

Mr. Slosberg didn't give "quickie quizzes."

Mr. Potell had some eccentricities.

Mr. Epstein patented one of his inventions.

Mr. Gordon graduated. (He's been a senior a long time.)

The Student Court instituted capital punishment.

The fencing team made shish-kebab.

The Fortune Teller's Booth

In a remote corner of the county fair, sitting in a gloomy and mysterious booth is a wrinkled old woman who gazes into her crystal ball and looks into the future—our future!

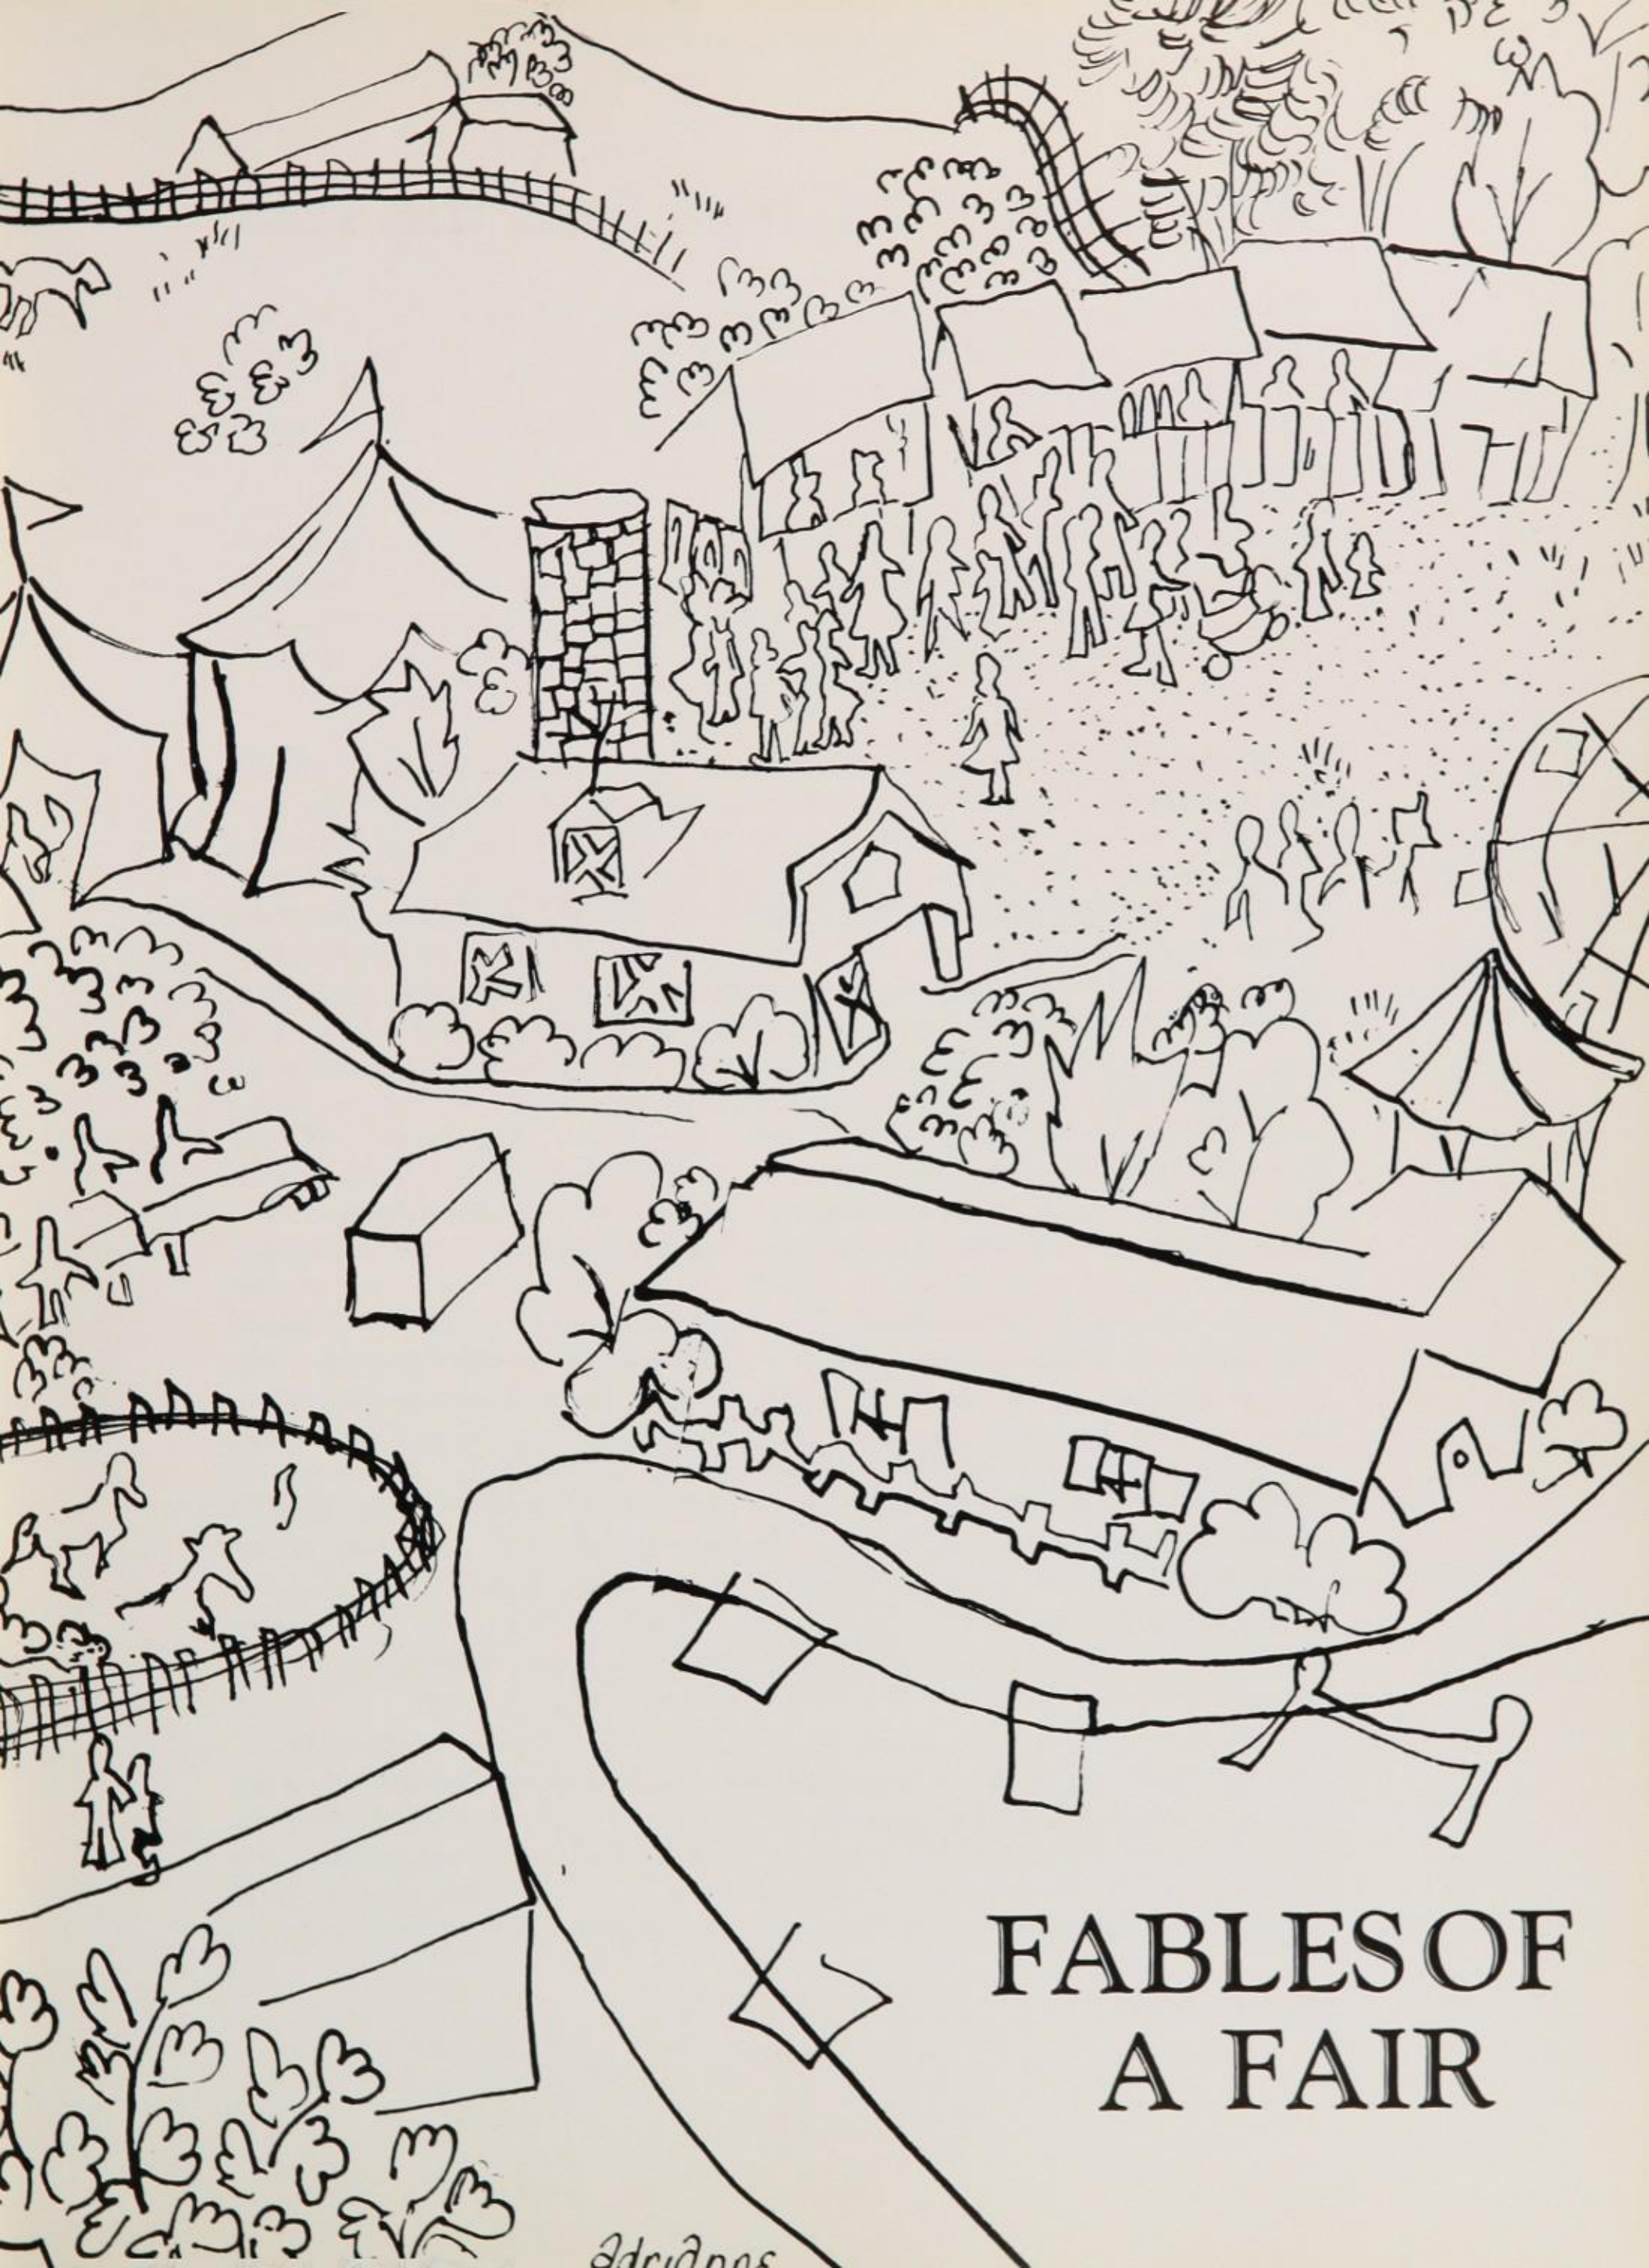

The year is 1975. JOE TRIPOLI, former treasurer of several organizations at New Utrecht, and ALLAN JOHNSON, former stock market messenger, are sitting in the office of their bank while RICHIE BRILLER and DON LEVINE, the great mathematicians, count money in the adjoining vault. STEVE FRANKEL comes in to ask for a contribution to the Red Cross and JOAN BAGLIO and ROSALIE CINCO, the bank's capable secretaries, take care of him.

Across the street from the bank is JACK MENACHE's co-ed night club where GARY LAMBERT and the well-known comedian, MARTY COHEN, are rehearsing the opening night's show with singers SUE KALKSTEIN and MURRAY GIMBELMAN. Among the celebrities expected to attend this opening night are STAN SILK and ALLAN HELERSTEIN, the two noted dentists; STANLEY "MACBETH" WOHLBERG, one of the greatest Shakespearean actors of all times; and CAROL SIDOF-SKY, whose newest book is Number One on the "New York Times" best seller list. (The "Times" is now being run by MARY CARPENTER, ANDREA BASTA, and PAUL ZEITLIN.) All-American football player STAN SOFFER and former Miss America, BOBBI LA COVA, will also be at the opening.

Music can be heard in the distance, and as it grows louder a parade gradually comes into view. Familiar faces can be seen everywhere. RENZO ADDUCI is playing the trombone and STUART BURTON is the clarinetist in the band. ROSEMARIE CONTI and PATRICIA IACONO, the Mothers of the Year, have their children with them, and DOLORES CUTRO and DIANNA HEICHEN have brought their third and fourth grade students to the parade, which is really a presidential campaign for DAVE GEFFEN.

Pretty soon the parade enters the circus grounds. Off in a remote corner is a fortune teller's tent where a wrinkled old woman gazes into her crystal ball and looks into our future—which looks pretty good.

P.P.

FABLES OF A FAIR

When We Part and Feel the Tear

As graduation drew near, the girl became aware that she was experiencing a variety of mixed emotions. All her hopes and plans for the future were dimmed by the realization that now she would have to give up so much that had become a part of her daily life. She began taking inventory of the three years she had spent at New Utrecht, for in less than four weeks it would be over and she wanted to remember clearly this very important part of her life. The languorous atmosphere of the early June afternoon lent itself easily to daydreaming and reminiscing. She carefully took down the heavy scrapbook which she had begun to keep during her junior high school days. She sat down on her bed next to the windows which overlooked a not-too-well-kept garden and she began inspecting the contents of her scrapbook.

Between the yellowing pages, she found a tiny mimeographed card indicating what time she was to report on September 9, 1957, and next to that was her third term program card. She remembered that term well. She saw herself wandering through the halls which were strange to her at that time, longing for the security of the familiar walls of her junior high school. As she turned the pages, her first term at New Utrecht passed before her. There was a swimming ticket, an ancient football pass, a G.O. card, a Sing script, program and button, her parents' Sing tickets and a piece of strange blue material which was used for Noah's beard in that '57 Sing. The next page recalled the spring term of that innocent sophomore year. There was a ticket stub and program from the spring concert and behind that, a program from her first varsity show, "Jenny Kissed Me." She couldn't help but giggle slightly as she came upon the report card on which her first Regents marks were entered. How well she remembered that first three-hour exam—Plane Geometry, Friday, June 13, 1958. That card was the last of her sophomore souvenirs.

The next page of her scrapbook held another Sing script, program, and button. Alongside it she found the large gold "J" and the black beret which had been worn by the victorious Juniors de Paris. Lying between the pages there was an old season football pass and she immediately recalled the city champions of 1958. A pressed corsage reminded her that this was the year of Sweet Sixteen parties. She and her friends had attended a party almost every week until they groaned at the mention of another one. The spring term brought practice college boards and the Merit Scholarship tests. "What could have possessed me?" she thought, as she recalled getting up at 6:30 on a Saturday morning to take a test for a scholarship she knew she had no chance of winning. She found another report card boasting more Regents marks—the last reminder of her junior year.

There wasn't much left in the scrapbook. As a senior, she had been too busy to devote much time to her souvenirs. She found another Sing script, program, and button, and then she looked around her. Perched on top of her bookcase was the gold cap with green tassel worn by the chorus of the victorious Class of 1960. Next to it she saw a clean white and green senior hat trimmed with a large green feather and protected by plastic. She saw a broken, half-eaten green lollipop, a remnant of that grand and glorious Senior Day. On her night table sat the battery-operated candle, another reminder of the seniors' visit to Atlantis. On the dresser there was a long white envelope which contained a letter of acceptance from college, and through the doorway in the living room she could see the graduation picture which her parents proudly displayed. She realized now that there was only one more item to add—her diploma, the final souvenir of three happy years.

REBECCA LEVINE

Beyond the Horizon

I was young and had many things to wonder about and many questions to answer. One day I sat upon the rocks down by the sea and tried to answer some of the questions which my youth had created. I tried to find, like others before me, a reason for life. But as I sat, trying to reason, my mind wandered and my eyes and heart found beauty in the things around me.

The waves rolled in against the rocks, creating little swirls and crests of foam; the seagull soared into space, the gray and white of his graceful body framed by the pale blue of the sky, which here and there was flecked with the purest of white clouds; the sunshine struck the rocks and reflected from the mica, giving the effect of thousands of tiny mirrors. Even an ant making his way across the vast expanse of a stone cause me to wonder.

As I sat, I realized that these things which filled my quiet afternoon were an important part of life, and that there was happiness and comfort within these things.

Time, as always, spent itself quickly, and before I had a chance to answer many of my questions, a wave broke upon the rocks and its spray, falling upon my bare arms and face, brought me back from the world of my thoughts and made me realize that the tide had come in and the sun was falling beyond the horizon.

It was time to leave, and so I said goodbye to nature, promised to return and taking my love and my youth by the hand, headed homeward. I did not know the reason for life, but I knew how to enjoy it and live it to its fullest. I was confident that someday, perhaps when I was older, wiser and more mature, my questions would all be answered.

PATRICIA PRENDERGAST

One Hundred-five

Addition and Subtraction

Many is the time I have heard a silly sophomore or junior add a few years here and there to her age. I have looked down from my plane of infinite wisdom, and have blessed Allah for the brains that I am endowed with as a Superior Senior.

The problem of making your parents (those dear hearts) older by pushing back the memorable date of your birth may be attacked in many ways, but I will deal with the situations closest to the heart.

(Since girls are the superior sex anyway, I will use the first person feminine for the purpose of clearness, but the applicability of the details that follow is not limited by gender.)

Illustration A:

Having met the most absolutely gorgeous boy (the one with the white Bonneville convertible—not that that's important) in the hotel where you're spending your vacation (with your parents—those dear hearts), you proceed to sweep him off his feet with your sophistication, maturity, and wisdom. (You first warn your parents not to dare mention your real age.) You just know he's thinking, "Boy, am I glad I met her and not a young child. She's so . . . so . . . sophisticated . . . mature . . . wise."

The next day you hear him talking to a friend, and . . . "She doesn't seem to be her age at all." (I always knew I was wonderful.) "Who's she trying to kid anyway? She must be about three years younger than she says." (Only one-and-a-half!) . . . "What a phoney!"

Where could I have failed? Where did I slip up? Surely, my analysis of Mother Goose was intelligent and stimulating.

Illustration B:

It's a beautiful and sunny day, but a bit cool (40 degrees F.), and you are taking a walk on the boardwalk at Coney Island.

On a sudden impulse you decide it would be sheer heaven to walk through the sand without shoes. You drag your boy friend down to the steps, start removing your shoes, and just then some of your mother's friends happen to walk by. (They always walk in Coney Island in 40-degree weather.) They, of course, know your real age. (Don't they have a way of always finding out everything?)

After many winks and giggles amongst themselves, they allow you to introduce "the new boy friend." As they walk away "into the sunset" (finally) one turns to the other and says, "Aren't they just adorable, Martha? I wish I were their age."

A little while later some people who are under the impression that you are older (I wonder how they got that idea?) see you merrily romping through the sand. But this time you hear, "What is she? Some kind of nut?"

I could go on and on, but the whole idea is that it's wonderful to be young. When else will people watch you do ridiculous things and say, "Isn't that cute?" Sure, there are advantages to being older, but there's plenty of time for them later on. And plenty of time for lying about your age too. It won't be too long before we'll have to start subtracting.

GLORIA ENOCH

Forever A Soph

When I entered this massive establishment, I observed the ways of all its wondrously level-headed members, rushing about their important business. They never seemed to stop to look across the wide auditorium at those inspiring organ pipes or at the gold insignia high on the stage curtain of healthy green. They never looked twice at the gigantic, realistic-looking brown animals painted on the backdrop behind, nor did they give a second thought to watching its majestic opening to the echoes of a girls' gym.

By now I myself have experienced this level-headed bustling. I am a "senior." I am supposed to have grown used to the chlorine smell from the white tile swimming pool, to find nothing particularly comforting about the clumps of chatterers brushing past "Jazz Concert" posters as they carry their "meat or fish" and clam chowder to their tables. Somehow, however, I am still a "misfit." I still find joy in gazing out the window, not at the passing trains or down at crowds of liberated students waiting for leather-jacketed friends, but at the big windows opposite. I like to watch them—the lighters of the Bunsen burners, the sophomores looking wide-eyed at their enthusiastic teacher, the rows of heads behind paned, foggy glass, deeply absorbed in a world of history.

I think I am still a soph at heart.

Introspections

I

It was a silent rain—and soft as milkweed sailing through my sky.
Unreal—a phantom rain
that settled, silencing the starling's cry, the insect's hum.

(The winds won't sigh.)

All there was was their silence.

A dream of rain—a clouded vision—
a bank of fog adrift within.
So fine—a faint and golden web.
Each exquisite strand had been created of thought.

(Ephemeral and thin.)

All there was was their image.

After that supernatural rain the earth grew fresh, my sky became an infinite, infinitesimal sapphire;
a moon suspended from its wall.

The cosmos whispered . . . "———."
(I don't recall.)

Some shadows swung;
and fell, and rose.
Vertiginous flights
of dragonflies
suggested themselves in the grass.

disclosed a whirring pair,
and the tulip trees.

Inches of life,
the dragonflies;
immeasurable
in such terms
the tulip trees:
So I reduce them
and they fit
in the palm of my hand.

I looked at them
and saw them
as some giant thing of joy would—
I became Pan
and the Universe.

And then they grew,
and filled the paling
sky with earth—sweet woodiness—
(horizon to zenith)
and I became man.

Some shadows swung;
and fell, and rose.
Ephemeral wings
of dragonflies
beat arabesques of sunlight
as I laughed.

Meditations

The approach of a high school graduation is often a stimulus for serious thoughts about the future. From compositions dealing with this subject, we have taken a few excerpts that express what many of us feel.

The time to play is gone, lost forever with the coming of maturity. I must face up to life and responsibility . . . I think back over the years of childishness, the years of fun, fiction, and fantasy, the years without responsibilities, problems, and cold facts. It was fun, but I cannot live in the past with my dreams of glory. I must go out and try to make these dreams fact, not fiction . . .

STANLEY WOHLBERG

What will I do with my life? The world must be a better place for my having lived, or I will have lived in vain . . . Would it be horrible to fail? What is failure? Is a man a failure if he lives happily but does not have a high-paying job? Is that failure? If so, failure in what? Is a $50,000-a-year job a blessing if, in order to earn it, one forsakes health and family? Or is success measured in terms of contentment and happiness rather than money and worldly possessions? . . .

SPORTS SECTION

Competing against other schools from the toughest division in the entire city, the Green and White gridsters ended the season with a very good record. Coached by Mr. Sy Rapp, who was assisted by Mr. Lenny Lucks, the iron men finished in a tie for third place in their division with a record of three wins, three losses, and one tie. Although they didn't repeat last year's triumphant path to the city championship, the boys made history this year by beating or tying all the teams in the Bensonhurst area—Lincoln, Lafayette, Madison, and John Jay—for the second year in a row.

The Utes' most outstanding game last fall was the opener against Lincoln. The Green and White boys beat the Honest Abes 22-14, thus upsetting Lincoln's chances to win the city championship for which they had been pre-season favorites.

This season the team had an outstanding offensive led by end Stan Soffer who made the all-city team, quarterback Richard Mantia, who completed 46 out of 90 passes thrown and made the all-city third team, and halfback Fred Fuchs, who was the third highest scorer in the city with 88 points. Fuchs was also named to the all-city second team. Sam Cerverizzo, playing both offense and defense, was another Green and White asset.

Other outstanding players included tackle Don Conzo, Eddie Greenberg, Ben Friedman, and Richard Lombardi, who were selected for all-city second or third teams.

Coach Rapp feels that next year's prospects look exceptionally promising and he expects his team to better their '59-'60 record.

The gridsters graduating this year are Don Conzo, Richard Mantia, and Stan Soffer, captains; Richard Settimo, Richard Lombardi, and Chester Storeck, ends; Eddie Greenberg, center; Ben Friedman and Vinny Santarpia, guards, and Sam Cerverizzo, Charlie Cicarelli, Roy Larezzo, Joe Montes, and Anthony Mustillo, backs.

BASKETBALL

Although this year's basketball team was studded with juniors, a few of whom were in their first year of varsity competition, the hoopsters, coached by Mr. Jack Gordon, succeeded in winning six victories during the season, four of which were in league competition. On the debit side, there were twelve losses for the Green and White quintet.

Two of the juniors, Richie Stancavage and Barry Erdos, co-captains of the varsity team, merit special commendation for their performances this year. Since both boys will be playing for New Utrecht next year, their added experience, plus the skill which achieved a 20-point average for each of them this year, should help bring many victories to the team.

Another high scorer this year was Ted Manos, who averaged 18 points a game and was the leading rebounder next to Stancavage. Ted has a lot of drive and Coach Gordon expects him to excel in college basketball.

For a part of the season, two members of the team, Dave Fritz and Roy Larezzo, were hampered by recurring injuries, resulting in the loss of their valuable services in a number of games.

Besides Manos, Fritz, and Larezzo, Eddie Cohen and Bruce Wulwick will be graduating this year.

TENNIS

Although this is only its second season of competition, the New Utrecht tennis team has been doing very well, establishing a record of five wins and two losses for the year. The two losses were in matches played against schools that have had a regular tennis team for many years.

Captain of the Ute team is Mark Wagner, who along with Irwin Schwartz, Warren Kaplan and Manny Karelefsky, plays in the singles matches. Manny and Kenneth Horn compete in the doubles matches.

The graduating players are Wagner, Kaplan, Schwartz, Karelefsky, and Steven Weintraub.

HANDBALL

Achieving second place in city-wide competition this year, the New Utrecht handball team was described by their coach, Mr. Abe Rifkin, as "exceptional in courage . . . a group of boys that did amazingly well against strong competition." An otherwise perfect record was spoiled for the wallmen by a ten-year-old Lafayette jinx which this year resulted in two 3-2 defeats. The six other games in which they participated were all won by the Utes.

Coach Rifkin gives much credit to Arthur Meyers, the team's captain, for keeping up the morale of his teammates and for his excellent playing abilities. Other outstanding players who helped keep the team in the running for a championship are David Tropp, Milton Klatzko, and Anthony Cardinale. These three boys, along with Meyers, are among the year's graduates.

When asked about the handball team's prospects for next year, Mr. Rifkin replied, "We are always contenders for the championship."

BASKETBALL, TENNIS, AND HANDBALL TEAMS

SWIMMING

This year the Green and White swimmers completed a very successful season, chalking up a record of five victories and two defeats. Mr. Frank MacDavitt, the mermen's coach, is now looking forward optimistically to next season.

Graduating this year are Stephen Goldberg and Nissim Najjar, the team's co-captains, and the following members of the team: Jack Menache, Ed Brozinsky, Bill Bonacki, Mike LaBush, Robert Sinianian, Stan Wohlberg, Leon Sanchez, Vic Berman, Richard Weg, Dave Arlan, Joel Abrahams, Joe Tobias, and Al Novick.

FENCING

This year, their second in P.S.A.L. competition, the New Utrecht foilsmen ended the season with a record of two victories and two losses. Mr. Len Lucks, the team's coach, can be very proud of his high scorers—Richard Sucamele, whose victories totaled seven as compared to a lone defeat, and Ronald Marcucci, who achieved a record of six wins and two losses. Ronald also received the honor of qualifying among the top thirty-two fencers in the city. Of the new members of the group, an outstanding fencer is Gerald Feola, who did exceptionally well in his first season.

Graduating this term are Captains Arnold Aronson and Ronald Marcucci, team members Steve Hoffman and Alan Portville, and squad members Marvin Kantor, Mike Lefelstein, and Mark Oliansky.

GOLF

As the COMET goes to press, the golf team has started its season and is holding second place in the city. Coach Irv Goldberg, who predicted an exceptionally rewarding season, expects his team to finish with a third place city title.

Much of the team's success is due to the efforts of Captain Mike Mark, who has three years of team experience behind him. Backing up Mike are Larry Marra and Charlie Diaz. Both boys, after two years on the team, have achieved noteworthy records so far this season.

Mark, Marra, and Diaz, the team's top three, are all graduating this term.

BOWLING

Completing one of their best seasons, the Green and White bowlers, under the guidance of Coach Jerry Rizzo, this year won a championship in their division and were barely defeated in their bid for a city championship.

Captain Al Levine, a January graduate, led the boys with an average of 182 points, and Joe Picataggio followed close behind with 178. The team's record for the season was nine wins and two losses.

The graduating keglers this year include Picataggio, Joe Rappa, Lou Soriano, Bob Oliver, and Richie Weithorn.

SWIMMING AND FENCING TEAMS

BASEBALL

Last year's highly successful mound season has led Coach Abe Felcher to expect an outstanding 1960 team and up to the COMET deadline, he hasn't been disappointed. Behind the batting of Richie Stancavage and Donnie Conzo, the Utes have earned a fine league record.

Last year Ted Manos was the outstanding Green and White batter, and Richie Rubino was the top pitcher. Both of these players received honorable mention in the 1959 All-City selections. This year's top prospects are Barry Erdos, Joe Montes, Herb Frauenberger, and Roy Larezzo, along with Richie, Donnie, and Ted.

Coach Abe Felcher also looks forward optimistically to next year. He feels that the team will have good hitting and pitching, and that New Utrecht and Lafayette will be the leading contenders for the championship.

The boys for whom this is the last season of high school baseball are Captain Ted Manos, Co-Captain Marty Wassner, and Montes, Larezzo, Frauenberger, Conzo, Alvin Azus, Robert Brasco, Charles Scicolone, and Phil Martello.

TRACK

Showing the results of intensive practice, the Green and White track team, under the guidance of Coach Jackson Browne, has exhibited fine teamwork throughout the year.

Among the outstanding members of the team are George Siciliano, Allen Novick, and Eddie Weinfeld, all of whom scored in field events on various occasions this season. Siciliano, a shotputter, won a gold medal at the Bishop Loughlin meet.

Other tracksters who qualified for the Madison Square Garden meets are: Captain Dennis Stanzione, Co-Captain Lenny Quartaro, Richard Stora, and Joe Marchetti.

Mr. Browne believes that he has good reason to look forward to next season with optimism.

Besides Stanzione, Quartaro, Siciliano, Novick, and Weinfeld, the graduating members of the team include Louis Passman, Neil Castellano, Peter Spano, Don Salvi, Joe DiPrima, Mel Edison, and Brian Bender.
